

Helping create enriched, safe, independent lives is what we do every day at Interim HealthCare®.

Most people want to stay in their home and remain independent as long as possible. An experienced, trusted home care company like Interim HealthCare can make that possible. No two people need the same kind of care, so we coordinate between our community partners and other resources to make sure every need is met.

With five decades of national home care experience, Interim understands how important it is for people to stay in their homes. We also believe that age alone shouldn't limit anyone's horizons, which is why we offer a unique approach with some of our services.

Our HomeLife Enrichment Program® offers seniors in-home services that focus on the whole person — mind, body, spirit and family. Our experience has taught us that when all four areas are addressed, individuals thrive in an environment that keeps them engaged and involved. We offer customized programs because, above all else, we value the uniqueness of every individual.

Why We're Different

We have higher standards to give you peace of mind

Our Care Professionals are employed by us and they meet our high standards of quality.

All of our Care Professionals are:

- Carefully interviewed and screened
- Background and drug checked
- Bonded and insured
- Trained and supervised
- Carefully matched with each client

Our services are as unique as our clients

No two individuals are alike, and their care should be as individual as they are. It can be a few hours a week or 24/7 assistance. Once an in-home evaluation has been completed, we develop a plan of care that can include services* such as the following:

Personal Care Services

- Light housework and laundry
- Transportation
- Food shopping and meal preparation
- Medication reminders
- Homemaking and companionship
- Personal care – bathing and grooming

*Services vary by location

Communicating is a top priority

We understand that good communication is very important and we make sure that all the necessary individuals are kept up to date and informed.

We go beyond traditional services

As part of our unique HomeLife Enrichment Program®, we offer a variety of activities including:

- Brain fun and games
- Life memory reviews
- Home safety programs
- Caregiver's Coaching for family members

Paying for Home Care

Home care services may be paid for directly by the patient through insurance coverage or through other public or private sources depending upon eligibility. Our trained staff works directly with insurance companies to verify coverage and also serves as a resource for directing patients and families to information about other reimbursement programs.
